Policy Summary

What this Policy covers

- Buying and selling Strike shares; and
- The issue and exercise of Strike options.

Who this Policy applies to

- All Directors and employees of Strike and its subsidiaries; and
- Contractors who have agreed to be bound by this policy.

What this Policy requires of you

- You may not buy or sell shares in Strike or be issued with or exercise Strike options if you have Inside Information; and
- In addition, Directors, direct reports to the Managing Director, staff in Head Office - Perth and employees on secondment from Head Office - Perth may only do the above things at other times with written permission.

In summary, "Inside Information" is information which you have learned in the course of your duties with Strike (and which is not generally known outside the Company) which suggests that Strike shares are worth significantly more (or less) than the market price. Inside Information is explained in detail on page 2.

Page 3 contains a summary of what you need to do to be able to buy or sell Strike shares, or be issued with or exercise Strike options.

This is only a summary of this Policy. You are required to read and comply with the full Policy.

Questions about this Policy

If you have any questions about this Policy, contact the Company Secretary by email at cosec@strikeresources.com.au.

WARNING: it is a criminal offence to buy, sell or otherwise acquire or dispose of shares or options in Strike or any other listed company if you have knowledge which gives you an advantage over other investors in the share market. This offence is called "Insider Trading". You can be sent to jail or fined for Insider Trading. This Policy endeavours to ensure that:

- you avoid Insider Trading liability in relation to Strike and other companies; and
- Strike avoids the reputational damage that could occur as a result.

WARNING: A breach of this Policy is a serious matter and is likely to result in immediate termination of your employment.

Policy Background - Insider Trading

What is Insider Trading?

The main kind of Insider Trading

In summary “Insider Trading” (as it applies to Strike) means buying or selling shares in Strike or being issued with or exercising Strike options when you have Inside Information.

What is Inside Information?

“Inside Information” (as it relates to Strike) means information which:

- (a) is not widely available to stock market (ASX) investors; and
- (b) a reasonable person would expect it to have a significant effect on the price of Strike shares if it was widely available.

What else is “Insider Trading”?

The law against Insider Trading also prohibits:

- (a) you encouraging another person to buy or sell Strike shares if you have Inside Information; and
- (b) you telling Inside Information to another person where you should reasonably know that they are likely to buy or sell Strike shares or persuade another person to do so.

When does information stop being Inside Information?

After Inside Information has been disclosed to ASX it is still Inside Information until investors have had a reasonable time to consider it. This Policy helps ensure that trading in Strike shares does not occur until that time has passed.

Inside Information Examples

The following are examples of Inside Information:

- (a) You are aware that Strike is lodging a claim for a mining tenement over ground which has potential to contain a substantial mineral resource.
- (b) You know that a drilling program is likely to lead to a substantial increase in Strike’s mineral resources.
- (c) Strike is proposing to buy or sell a mineral project.
- (d) Another company makes a confidential approach to Strike proposing a take-over.
- (e) Strike is planning a capital raising.
- (f) You are aware of a civil disturbance in a region where a Strike project is located, before the information becomes widely known.

Reputational Damage

Insider Trading by Strike personnel may damage Strike’s reputation. Strike’s reputation may also be damaged if a reasonable person may suspect that Insider Trading has occurred, even if it has not occurred.

Example: an employee who was not aware that Strike was about to announce a large new mineral resource buys Strike shares shortly before the announcement. A reasonable person may suspect that the employee was aware of the subject of the announcement before it was made.

Enforcement of Insider Trading Laws

The ASX and Government regulators take an active interest in whether Strike and its personnel are complying with the law on Insider Trading and this Policy. Regulators may investigate share transactions which occur before significant ASX announcements to find out whether the buyer or seller acted on Inside Information.
